

KARLI SENSIBELLO

Developer & Designer

PROFILE

I am an experienced web developer and designer from Cleveland, Ohio.

I currently work as a web developer for Schaffer Partners in Cleveland, Ohio and as an expert web designer for B12.io. I love creating beautiful, responsive, and intuitive user experiences. I have a passion for building excellent websites and applications for my clients that range from individuals, to local businesses, and all the way up to international corporations.

I have been in web development and design since I was a teenager and aim to challenge myself daily by learning new technology and trends in development.

Aside from technology, my passions include topics that involve philosophy, psychology, politics, criminology, and coffee.
